

CASL-CLF Visiting Professorship Award Guidelines

Overview

The CASL-CLF Visiting Professorship is awarded annually to a CASL member who is recognized as an outstanding individual in hepatology, an excellent communicator, and with an interest in clinical, basic science or translational liver research.

Objective(s)

- The objective of the CASL-CLF Visiting Professorship is to provide an exceptional liver educational program to health care professionals, paraprofessionals, researchers, and others involved in liver disease.
- A 'State of the Art' lecture in Hepatology will be given at each host center. The visiting professor will also participate in undergraduate and postgraduate liver education and the exchange of ideas with staff, researchers, trainees and students, etc. where possible.
- The awardee will visit at least four Canadian centers during the academic year and must include at least one stopover in each of the four regions of Canada:
 - the Western Provinces
 - Ontario
 - Quebec
 - the Maritime Provinces
- The awardee visits will be coordinated by the award recipient, a designated contact at each host center, and the CASL office.
